

Meet Angie

Angie is an advocate who wants us to recognize ability, not disability. She is the president of the Spinal Cord Association of Iowa and works to make positive changes for people with limited mobility.

When Angie's wheelchair breaks down, she is confined to a bed until someone can come fix the problem.

Angie has joined People for Quality Care to make sure she and others have access to quality service when they need it.

Who we are

Our mission is to educate people with disabilities, their families and Medicare beneficiaries about health policy changes that affect their freedom of choice. We work with advocacy groups to effect positive change and to ensure that quality, innovation and service remain part of the health care continuum.

QUALITY HOME CARE is under attack.

All Americans deserve the right to top-quality medical equipment, local service and timely, personalized care.

ACT NOW.

"As long as your home medical equipment works, you are not really disabled."

People for Quality Care

Millions of Americans rely on medical equipment to live in their homes instead of hospitals, go to the grocery store, attend their grandchild's ball games and enjoy life to its fullest.

People, like Larry, depend on local equipment providers to keep the equipment running, replace faulty parts, and show them what new technology is available to make life easier.

But now Congress has passed questionable cost-saving measures that drastically cut the number of providers available throughout the country.

They call it "competitive bidding," but all it does is prohibit access to equipment and services for seniors and people with disabilities, while shutting down local businesses.
