

Friend,

Legislative changes have deeply impacted the home care industry. As we move forward in our efforts for reform, we feel it is important to deepen partnerships and create new avenues for legislative success. One of those avenues is implementing DME licensure in states.

The political landscape is ripe for licensure and now is the time for DME to be part of the broader health care conversation with legislators. We believe that requiring DME licensure within states will create safeguards for our industry and will allow us to raise the bar for local care.

Passing a DME licensure bill will take effort, but we will support your state association throughout the process. Please join us in helping make sure health care remains local.

Yours in service,

Tom Powers
